

First Poultry Houses

Herrick Archives Numbers H 128/30

This report is in the form of a preliminary note which records fragmentary information gleaned to date. Later investigation may reveal more details.

The first three poultry buildings noted were:

H 128 - A hen house was built "at the barn" at a cost of $18.50 according to the report of the Farm Manager for the 10 month period ending November 15, 1878 (R, 1878:120)

H 129 - A house 10' x 80' was built in 1893. It ran in an east-west direction and was 9 1/2' high at the front and 6 1/2' high at the rear (Agricultural Student 1:20 November 1894)

H 130 - A similar house was built during the summer of 1894. It was one foot wider, but other dimensions are not known, (op. cit.)

These three poultry buildings were all a part of the barn group west of Campbell Hall (018) about where the Women's Field House (029) now stands. Precise locations of the poultry buildings have not been determined.

See Addenda No. 1, 2

According to Professor Emeritus A. R. Winter, use of these buildings was abandoned in 1900 (Cent. Hist. College of Agr. Vol III).

John H. Herrick
September 18, 1974

ADDENDUM NO. 1

Address arbitrarily assigned for indexing purposes: 1801 Neil Avenue.

John H. Herrick
February 17, 1976

ADDENDUM NO. 2

This barn group carries the number H 105 in these reports.

John H. Herrick
May 22, 1980